BIG JOB is held down at Chicago NORAD (North American Air Defense Command) Center by Airman Second Class George H. C. Boscon of Torrance. In front of Boscon, a manual data technician, is complex radar console which helps U. S. keep tabs on unidentified planes.

Torrance Airman Plays Vital Role in Nation's Air Defense

TRUAX FIELD, Wis. — Airman Second Class George H. C. Boscon, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cook of 1743 Arlington Ave., Torrance, is playing a key role in the aerospace defense program of the Chicago North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) Sector with headquarters at Truax Field, Wis.

The Chicago NORAD Sector, composed of men and weaponry of the Air Force, Army and Air National Guard, has aerospace defense responsibility in nine state or a quarter of a million square miles of the Midwest.

Airman Boscon works as a manual data technician, working with the giant, high-speed AN/FSQ-7 digital computers at the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) direction center of the Chicago NORAD Sector.

Vital aerospace defense information like the altitude, speed, and headings of all aircraft flying in the Chicago NORAD Sector flows automatically from outlying radar squadrons in the form of radar returns to the Sector direction center. At the direction center, an interservice staff monitors the situation, and the computers compare flight plans with actual aircraft tracks, making it possible to spot unknown aircraft in the system quickly. If necessary, supersonic manned interceptors can be scrambled to intercept and identify any unknowns.

The Torrance plant is filling the order under a supply contract awarded by a Shell affiliate in Istanbul, Turkey. Purchase is financed under the U. S. economic assistance program in the Near East nation.

Assistance agreements administered by AID, provide that American suppliers have an opportunity to receive contracts from the foreign country, thus keeping approximately two-thirds of aid dollars in the U. S. economy.

Shipments bear a distinctive color emblem identifying them to the people of the assisted nation as products of the U. S. aid program.

Airman Boscon joined the Air Force Sept. 9, 1959, after graduation from Torrance High School. Following his completion of basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas, he attended the SAGE school at Keesler, AFB Mississippi, for 17 weeks.

He arrived at Truax Field April 13, 1960.

The modernization program is scheduled to be completed next spring.

TINKER AFB, Okla. — WAF Airman Third Class Florence M. Crenshaw of Torrance is being reassigned to McGuire AFB, N.J., following her graduation from the special training course for flight traffic specialists here.

Airman Crenshaw was instructed in passenger service, cargo operations, ground and air safety, and aircraft emergency survival procedures.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Crenshaw of 1228 1/2 Arlington Ave., Torrance, the airman is a graduate of Torrance High School.
